Competitive Scholarship Applications Go Online

Beginning with the April 15, 2009 deadline, Doyon Foundation competitive scholarship applications will only be accepted online.

Students planning to apply for 2009 - 2010 competitive scholarships must first create an online account, if they do not already have one. Accounts may be created at www.doyonfoundation.com/CreateAccount.aspx. Students should create an account at least seven days in advance of the scholarship application deadline, as it may take several days for Foundation staff to verify a student's shareholder status.

Students who have difficulties creating an account or who are unable to apply for scholarships online should contact Seeyaa' Charpentier at 907.459.2048 or charpentiers@doyon.com immediately for assistance.

This is the Foundation's first step toward a completely online scholarship application process. All scholarship applications, including basic, vocational and competitive, will need to be submitted online starting with the November 15, 2009 application deadline for spring 2010 scholarships. Additional information about this change will be provided in the coming months.

Doyon Foundation Student Profile: Brittni Guyton

One day, you may see Doyon Foundation student Brittni Guyton on the silver screen. The communications major at Long Beach State University has already gotten her feet wet, with modeling gigs, appearances in commercials and music videos, and even an internship on the TV show Extreme Makeover: Home Edition. After graduating in 2010, Guyton hopes to continue building a successful career in the entertainment industry.

"It seems like an exciting field," the Torrance, Calif. native said. "To be successful in my chosen career is going to require a lot of hard work, good relationships, commitment and God's blessings."

Guyton has proven she is used to hard work. She graduated from high school at 16 and began taking college courses at an early age.

"This was challenging for me," she said. "I overcame this by getting more focused on what my goals were and pursuing them."

Guyton, who recently received a basic scholarship, said the Foundation is now helping her pursue her goals.

"I recently asked Doyon for support, as I am now on my own and my financial resources are more difficult," she said. "Doyon Foundation's assistance would be a great asset in helping me to fulfill my goals and finish my education."

In addition to her education and entertainment industry work, Guyton also enjoys wakeboarding, snowboarding, going to the beach, riding quads, hunting with her father and brother, traveling and any type of outdoor activity. She is the daughter of Rod and Trinetta Guyton, and the granddaughter of John and Mona Guyton, and Bob and Elaine Waters.

Applying for a 2009 Scholarship?

April 15 is the deadline to apply for fall 2009 basic and competitive scholarships - are you ready? Be sure you're up-to-date on the application process by reviewing the following important information:

Apply online. Beginning this year, Doyon Foundation will implement a paperless competitive scholarship application process. This means that competitive scholarship applications will only be accepted online at www.doyonfoundation.com.

Get an online account. Students will need an online account to apply for scholarships online. Students without an online account can easily create one at www.doyonfoundation.com/CreateAccount.aspx. This should be done at least seven days in advance of the scholarship application deadline.

- Be enrolled in 12 or more credits (undergraduates), or nine or more credits (graduates) to be considered full-time students.
- Be enrolled in one - 11 credits (undergraduates), or one - eight credits (graduates) to be considered part-time students.

Want a basic scholarship? Basic scholarships, which range from $400 for part-time students to $800 for full-time students, are awarded four times per year - in the spring, summer, fall and winter (for vocational students only). Applicants must submit:

- Official transcripts.

For more information on basic scholarship guidelines and policies, visit www.doyonfoundation.com.

- Complete an online competitive scholarship application.
- Submit a personal essay online.
- Submit official transcripts.
- Submit proof of enrollment.
- Arrange for two professional letters of reference to be sent directly from the author to the Foundation.

Applications should be submitted to Doris Miller at 1 Doyon Place, Suite 300, Fairbanks, Alaska 99701 or millerd@doyon.com for review. Tips for Student Success

Sometimes the best tips for student success come right from other students! Here are some tips and advice shared by Doyon Foundation students who have recently been featured in our e-newsletters:

- "I am a strong, Koyukon Athabascan woman, and I hope all young ladies in Alaska can take my advice - don't hold back, go for it, it's all up to you." - Amanda Atla, graduate of Northern Industrial Training
- "I'd heard a lot of people say 'you can't do this' and 'you can't do that,' but in reality you can study and work in exactly what you want, even if you have to make your own opportunity to do so. There is always an avenue to your dreams." - Nazune Menka, master's degree candidate at Arizona State University
- "Never think about just the money when going for higher education. Think about what it is you like to do, what will make you happy, and what you can do for others." - Arthur Stevens, mechanical engineering student at the University of Alaska Anchorage
- "Think positive, have confidence in yourself, honor your heritage by achieving those goals that maybe were not available to them, do the class work while the information is fresh, and don't be afraid to ask questions if you don't understand." - Jessie Bergman-David, elementary education student at the University of Alaska Fairbanks
- "To be successful, you must remember the choices you make and the people you choose to be associated with will ultimately choose the person you will become. Evaluate your life and ask yourself 'is this what I want?' And if it isn't, find that intrinsic motivation and change. If you desire to do something, set a standard for yourself and be intrinsically motivated to do something great with your life."
- Kailey Jo Erickson, health education student at Brigham Young University in Idaho, former Miss Fairbanks Native Association, current Miss Nuchallawoyya
